BLOOD AT ELK.

The Merciless Mob Continues Its Murderous Work.

Another Night of Terror—Thieves and Thugs Continue the Blood-Thirsty Throng.

REMARKS. June 17.—The fighting between the thugs and the police last night was the worst yet. The mob was composed of the most desperate and lawless elements of the city. They were armed with knives, clubs, and other weapons. The police were outnumbered and were unable to control the mob. The mob continued to loot and burn property throughout the night. The damage done was extensive. The mob was not dispersed until early in the morning. The police were exhausted and many were injured. The mob's actions were a disgrace to the city and a threat to the safety of its citizens.

CURED BY FAITH.

The Remarkable Recovery of a Young Woman Who Had Two Years in Bed.

METRON, Ky., June 15.—A remarkable recovery of a young woman who had been confined to her bed for two years is reported. The woman, who is now well, was suffering from a severe case of nervous prostration. She had been in bed for two years, unable to get up or move. Her condition was so bad that she was almost dead. However, through the power of faith and the treatment of a local physician, she was cured. She is now able to walk and perform all the duties of a healthy woman. This is a true miracle and a testament to the power of faith.

FIGHTFUL THORN.

Guilveston, Texas, Becomes an Island.

FOR TWO YEARS, June 15.—A violent storm in about Sunday last evening from the east and increased in fury until it reached its height at midnight. The storm was of a fearful character, and the rain fell in torrents. The wind was so strong that it blew down trees and buildings. The water of the bay was so high that it inundated the low-lying parts of the city. The storm lasted for several hours and caused great damage. The city was left in a state of ruin. The storm was a terrible disaster for the city and its inhabitants.
